

Navigating Your Residential Build

You are about to embark on building or renovating your home which can be both exciting and scary.

You want to make sure you understand the build process and the contract documents you are about to sign.

BEFORE you sign your building contract, you should:

1.

Make sure you understand the laws for building in Queensland.

2.

Know your rights and what you are required to do under the building contract.

3.

Ensure you read and amend the building contract where necessary to reduce any risks that are going to add to the cost of your build or the time taken to build.

Construct Law Group can assist you as a homeowner by:

Helping you understand the building process so that you are confident to start the journey

Reviewing your building contract and advising you on your rights and obligations prior to signing the contract

Highlighting any hidden risks to you in the contract documents

Recommending amendments to the building contract where necessary

Why should you seek legal advice BEFORE you sign your building contract?

(or any other agreement with your builder such as a preliminary agreement or variations)

1.

The contract may not comply with legal requirements in Queensland.

2.

Your builder may have QBCC licensing issues.

3.

You want to understand key building terms such as prime cost items and provisional sums.

4.

Your builder may have their own form of contract, or special conditions which favour the builder or are unlawful.

5.

The contract may contain terms that are unfair.

6.

There may be hidden costs or ambiguities.

7.

The contract may not be completed properly, resulting in uncertainty and exposing you to cost increases and delays.

8.

There are strict time limits under the QBCC Home Warranty Scheme that you should be aware of prior to commencing a building project.
